MORE BARLEY TO BE PLANTED NOW

LARGER AMOUNT WILL BE SOWN IN WISCONSIN.

SEED TIME IS AT HAND

Favorable Conditions Are Noticed Throughout the State and Reported to the Department of Agriculture.

Prof. R. A. Moore, head of the agronomy department of the university, says there will be more barley sown this year than any year previous. The number of acres of oats will be practically the same, if not less than before. This will be due largely to the trouble with the oat crop during the past few years and the increasing agitation for growing a standard breed of barley, which will give a uniformly heavy yield.

"I think with a continuation of the present weather farmers will be seeding next week," said Mr. Moore. "Some farmers have been sowing oats already, and a letter was sent from a man in Fond du Lac, who said he had part of his oat crop in. Of course, this could only be possible on high ground—well that is either sandy or well drained.

Frost Has Not Been Deep
Generally speaking the ground is a little colder yet. But I think this has been a very favorable spring. When the weather blooms out too much to start with, there is usually a setback of some sort. This is not the case this year. What little frost there was is nearly out of the ground. There was not much of it this year anyway. The winter was mild. In some places it was not over 2 feet deep and usually it is nearly twice that. This has been due to the few cold days and the snow, which covered the ground, protecting it.

"There is some plowing going on in the state already. At the university farm the soil is being plowed as it is a little too sticky to get on the stubble ground, but a little wind and sunshine and the grain will be going into the ground."

To Sow More Barley This Year
"I expect to see a larger crop of barley sown this year than before. Last year there were about 1,500,000 bushels of this 'Wisconsin 55' barley grown in the state. This has been largely saved for seed and half of the crop this year will be the standard barley as recommended by the university. The yield is heavy and there may be more of it sown in southern Wisconsin than before.

"More oats may be grown on the new lands in northern Wisconsin, but less in southern Wisconsin."

Increase in Beet Growth
Prof. Moore anticipates more sugar beets will be grown this year than previously. The farmers have had some difficulty in disposing of the tobacco crop. The sugar beet men make a definite offer in advance. The farmer knows what he is going to get and this to him is an advantage. Then there are other advantages in growing beets as compared to other grains, which is gradually leading to an increased acreage. This is the fact that weeds can be kept out in this manner, because of the weeding and intensive cultivation that must be given the beet crop, during the early season.

W. C. T. U. HELD MEETING YESTERDAY

Subject of Meeting Was From the Liquor Dealers' Standpoint.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. O. W. Athol, 108 Highland avenue at 3 p. m. yesterday. Quite a large number attended and now members received. After the usual business was over the president, Mrs. Hild, who had charge of the program, the subject being "From the Liquor Dealers' Viewpoint," read extracts from a paper devoted wholly against prohibition, after which Mrs. Athol pleasantly surprised the ladies by serving refreshments—a white ribbon tea. All enjoyed the nice social time. Then the president presented Mrs. J. L. Meoda with a centerpiece of Wallachian embroidery as a token of love and appreciation for her work as superintendent of mothers' meetings, also thanks to Rev. J. L. Meoda for helping in so many ways. Our hostesses follow them to their future home. The annual meeting was held March 18 at Mrs. Martha Gibbs, 111 Academy street. The officers elected for the present year were: President, Mrs. Edith Hild; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edith Hild; recording secretary, Mrs. Daisey Athol; treasurer, Mrs. Amelia London; librarian, Mrs. Ellen Hild; superintendent of mothers' meetings, Mrs. L. L. Hild.

OBITUARY.

Jacob Bender
Jacob Bender, who was formerly in the saloon business here and was also employed at the Union brewery, died recently in Seattle, Washington. He was eighty-five years of age at the time of his death. His children survive him. They are Jacob, Albert, Augustus, Julia, Emma, and Elizabeth.

Mrs. William Bladorn
Mrs. William Bladorn died this morning at 8:30 at her home in the town of Rock. She has been sick for the past six months. Besides a husband she leaves to mourn her loss five children: They are Mrs. August Nells, Mrs. Frank Gibbs, Miss Anna Bladorn, Frank Bladorn and Edith Bladorn. "KREUTZER SONATA" BY BLANCHE WALSH

Americanized Version of Tragic Story of Russian Jew Immigrants Pleads Small Audience.

Jacob Gordin's sombre drama of "The Kreutzer Sonata" as interpreted here by that great Yiddish actress, Madame Bertha Kalich, on March 12, 1907, and the Blanche Walsh version as given at the Myers theatre last evening, differ only in minor details so far as the vital elements of the play, itself, are concerned, though the personality and methods of the players are greatly at variance. The Walsh rendition is less a literal translation of the distinctly racial character of the problem and more American in its treatment. Larger emphasis is given to the comedy relief element and much of the brutal frankness of the Kalich delineation is eliminated by careful preparation of the audience for the disagreeable situations long before they come to pass. The central character is "Hattie" instead of "Striven." Up to the final moment she arrives like the common-place, healthy, human being, to compromise with stretchedness, instead of accepting it with a sort of fatalism as her destined lot. "Gregorio," too, is less the knave and more the weak, vain, vacillating blunderer. The local color is preserved mainly by Jesse Ralph, who gives a splendid character delineation of "Ephraim Fildler's wife" and William Travers, who plays the part of "Hattie's" Albert Andrus in the role of "Raphael Friedlander," the patriarch whose home is so ruthlessly destroyed by the dramatic sufferer by comparison with the almost incomparable Theodore Roberts, though he does very well. William Watersworth as the impudent "Samuel" is hardly in the picture, and Alma Kruger is far from being as convincing as Adele Block in the part of the heartless "Celia."

EDGERTON NEWS OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Eastern Star Officers Surprise Mrs. and Mrs. C. O. Sherman
Edgerton, April 16.—Officers of the Eastern Star dropped in unexpectedly and passed a very pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sherman, Monday night.

Word has been received of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson of Minneapolis. Mrs. Johnson will be remembered as Miss Lydia Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaufman, Sr., have removed their household effects to Janesville, where they will take up their residence.

Mrs. Mahol Keenan Miles is a guest of her brother, Dr. H. A. Keenan. The students of the German school are enjoying a vacation this week. Miss Clara Johnson was a Stoughton visitor on Monday.

C. J. Dahl of Mansfield, Ohio, was a business caller early in the week. C. F. Wright of Libertyville was a local caller on Tuesday.

NEW MOTOR CAR AT ROUND HOUSE

WILL RUN BETWEEN JANESVILLE AND DELOIT.

OVER NORTHWESTERN ROAD

Is Built For Speed And Made Fast Trip From Chicago Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon at two ten the new gasoline motor car which will be put on by the Northwestern road to run between here and Deloit next Monday reached the new yards, where it is now in the round house, where it came up under its own power as an extra in charge of conductor Zweig and motorman Barney. Several of the officials of the road were on the car during its trip, and it is reported that a speed of eighty miles an hour was attained for short stretches. While the schedule is not known as yet it is probable that the car will make connections with the through trains which do not pass through Deloit and will make several trips a day.

In appearance the car is unlike anything ever seen around here before. The entire outside is covered with steel plates, painted dark brown. The front end, in which is a small cab for the motorman, tapers to a sharp point with a pilot attached to it. Back of the motorman's cab is a smoking compartment and back of that the passenger compartment. There are two entrances on either side, situated in the middle of the car instead of at the end. These entrances are vestibuled and lead up a few steps to the floor of the car where doors open into the smoking compartment and into the passenger compartment. The rear of the car is rounded off and has no projections of any kind. The windows in the sides are circular and resemble the portholes in a ship. The car is about seventy feet long and will seat fifty passengers. In its lines and general appearance it resembles a decked over power boat on wheels.

The car was purchased from the Union Pacific, which has agreed to build several more for the use of the road as soon as possible. It was designed by W. R. McKee, Jr., superintendent of motive power and machinery for the Union Pacific. In the attempt to complete with trolley lines and to branch lines service more economically, eight distinct models have been constructed from time to time, motor cars being more or less a hobby of E. H. Harriman.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

May 7 is Circus Date: Gollmar Bros. plan to show in Janesville on May 7. They are to carry a three-ring circus this season and their menagerie includes some of the elephants formerly owned by Barnum & Bailey. The Gollmars are related to the Kling Bros. and have their headquarters at Baraboo.

Humane Society Lecture: W. H. Bennett, former district attorney of Milwaukee county, will deliver at the city hall at eight o'clock this evening a free lecture on "The Benefits to Be Derived from Humane Societies." He is actively identified with the work of this organization and will speak under the auspices of the local branch.

Fell from Monterey Bridge: While climbing up the iron-work of the Monterey bridge Tuesday evening, William Wallish lost his hold, and dropped into the river, a distance of some 30 or more feet below. He was able to swim ashore and escaped serious injury beyond a severe ducking in the cold water.

Smith Pen Co. Gets Backing: Edward Smith, owner of the Interurban hotel at the corner of Franklin and Dodge streets and considerable other property in the city, has purchased a controlling interest in the H. B. Smith Pen Co. According to Al Smith, who left today for a business tour of the south, the business of the concern has more than doubled during the past year and the firm will soon move to larger quarters, though no definite location has as yet been decided upon.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the "Four Shannons" head the bill of the singers and clever dancers. Francis & Lewis, who appeared here two years ago and made the biggest hit of any singers that ever worked at the West Side, are also on the program. J. H. Byrne bills himself as a monologuist artist and comedist. James Riley will sing "Swiss Van Care" with the Shannons. In addition to this there will be two reels of the latest motion pictures.

Evil Within.

All the forces of evil may come upon a soul from without, and fail to shake it. But the smallest evil within, that is loved and desired and continued in, will accomplish what the outside attack has failed in. The only hopeless evil is the evil we do not hate, nor endeavor to escape from, but allow to remain.—Baltimore Methodist.

Up-to-Date Merchant.

A Paris shopkeeper wrote to one of his customers as follows: "I am able to offer you cloth like the inclosed sample at nine francs the meter. In case I do not hear from you I shall conclude that you wish to pay only eight francs. In order to lose no time, I accept the last-mentioned price."

Superstitious Viennese.

A curious result of a recent earthquake in Vienna was a great rush of people on the following day to the establishments where lottery tickets are sold. All the applicants wanted tickets bearing numbers suggested by the earthquake.

Sees Money in Frogs.

A prominent resident of Shamokin, Pa., who owns a farm near Treverton, thinks there is a greater demand for frogs than grain, dairy products or garden snails, and will devote his attention to frog raising on a large scale.

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR THE MEDALS

Extemporaneous Speaking, Poetry, Orations and Declarations at the High School.

Wednesday evening the medal contests filled the high school auditorium with a good sized audience. The judges were Supt. Harvey Clark of the state school for blind, Mr. Powers of Deloit and Prof. H. Stetson of Deloit college. Wm. Weight of Waterloo who was to be a judge being unable to come. The Lovejoy medal for orations was won by Mary E. Spohn. The Recorder medal for extemporaneous speaking was won by Leo Atwood whose topic was "Conservation of Our Natural Resources." The Mayhew medal for poetry was won by Marcela Rogans' poetry entitled "The Cycle of the Year." The Loomis medal for declarations was won by Mildred Doty who recited "The Banishment of Hagar," and is a student of Miss Anna Cutter. The first item of the program was a piece by the orchestra entitled "Evelina." The prize oration was read by Miss Spohn and the prize poem was read by Mr. Huell. Next on the program was "The Daffodils," sung by the Girls' Glee club. This was followed by the extemporaneous speaking and a song by Mary Ladden assisted by Marjorie Hodge with a violin and Clara Hodge at the piano. The orchestra then gave a selection entitled "The New Era." The decisions of the judges were then announced and the medals awarded.

W. J. CALHOUN, WHOSE REPORT ON VENEZUELA'S ASPHALT WAR MAY CAUSE THE UNITED STATES TO INTERFERE.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—The special report of Commissioner Calhoun is now ready for consideration of the senate. In response to a request from the senate, state department, by the direction of the president. The report shows two different asphalt companies have been fighting for the possession of valuable deposits of asphalt in Venezuela. The Castro government was taken a hand in the matter and the whole dispute was permeated with fraud, graft and scandal. From the day when Minister Bowen brought charges against Assistant Secretary of State Loomis until the present time, the whole Venezuelan situation has been one which was a great deal of a puzzle. Two years ago President Roosevelt sent William J. Calhoun to Caracas as a special commissioner to investigate the alleged claims of American interests against the republic of Venezuela. Mr. Calhoun's detailed report has never been made public until the present time. The Hernandez company holds the land title for which they actually paid a money consideration to the government. The mining title was acquired under the mining laws of the company and vested in the company, the exclusive possession and right of operation for a term of 99 years. These titles were ignored and Castro's government took possession forcibly.

After summarizing the terms of the original concession and describing the Hernandez land and mining titles, independent of this concession, the report says: "Without extending the discussion further, the fact remains that the company's right under these titles has never been passed upon. The government of Venezuela has seized and still holds the property as an incident to the forfeiture of the Hamilton contract. "The government on the main issue as made, and the evidence in what is called the 'sequestration suit,' was entitled to a judgement of forfeiture, or cancellation of the Hamilton contract, because the Hernandez company had not performed the obligation by which it assumed to explore and exploit the natural products of forests, etc. "This failure to canelize the river as specified in this last contract was the only evidence offered in support of the alleged right or sequestration; the prohibitive force of that evidence was slight and the granting of the writ without notice to the company and its execution by a civil officer supported by the army and navy has at least, the appearance of oppression and perversion of justice."

The whole matter is so involved and complicated that much trouble may be expected before satisfaction is obtained. It may even lead to an international dispute between the United States and Venezuela.

Need of Abundant Sleep.

Only by abundant sleep in favorable conditions can the worker indoors reasonably hope to rival the health of the fortunate outdoor man, whose life approaches the natural conditions in which the race was planned to thrive.

Cling Steadfastly to One Idea.

All human giants have been self-assertive, self-reliant men, who dared to be singular, who did not mind the laughs and taunts and jeers and gibes of the crowds, but held on to one idea, nurtured it, cared for it, cultivated it until from it they reaped success.

THREE HOMES WERE VISITED BY SNEAK THIEF YESTERDAY

Mrs. M. G. Jeffris Had $3 Taken from Pocketbook and Mrs. S. B. Heddies Lost $25.

While Mrs. M. G. Jeffris was engaged in sewing with a dressmaker on the second floor of her home at the corner of East street and St. Lawrence avenue about half-past four o'clock yesterday afternoon, the latter suddenly remarked that she heard someone walking about downstairs and asked if either of the servant girls were in the house. Mrs. Jeffris assured her that one of them was, and thought no more of the incident until she went to get the wrist-bag which she had left in the hallway, just before starting for the theatre last evening. She found that the bag had been opened and the pocketbook and card case it had contained thrown out upon the hall-floor. The pocketbook had contained about $6 and was empty. It is believed that the thief gained entrance through a window.

At Frank Fildes' Home
Earlier in the afternoon, while the Misses Catherine and Winifred Fildes were reading in the sitting-room of their home on North Jackson street, they were disturbed by the noise of someone entering the hallway. As the latter stepped into the parlor she was confronted by a small dark-complexioned stranger who held a hand to his mouth and mumbled in broken English words to the effect that his teeth bothered him. She gave him to understand that nothing could be done for him there and he edged his way out of the front door. Miss Fildes kept watch and saw him go around the side of the house and when she stepped into the dining-room a few minutes later she found him there. The fellow again went through his pantomime and beat a retreat. This time he disappeared in the rear of the house. Losing sight of him, Miss Fildes went out to the barn and again found him, this time with his coat tossed into the buggy, badly engaged in readjusting his pockets. She urged him to go across the road and endeavor to make himself understood by a German who was unloading coal and he followed orders, so far as the direction of his movements was concerned.

Mrs. S. B. Heddies Robbed
The largest theft of the afternoon occurred at the home of Mayor Stewart B. Heddies on North Jackson street. Mrs. Heddies' father was resting on a couch when he heard a noise in the hallway. As he got up and opened the hall door he was confronted by a stranger who went through the same pantomime as enacted by the visitor at the Fildes home. Some time later Mrs. Heddies discovered that $25 had been taken from a wrist-bag which she had left hanging in the hall. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning a Serbian woman visited the home and sold Mrs. Heddies some small trifles. She now remembers that the woman closely watched her every movement as she went to get her purse. The pedlarwoman left for Madison on a noon train yesterday, according to the police. Several suspicious characters were arrested last night but none of them seem to answer descriptions.

Tax Luxuries.
Luxury, of the excess of that which is pernicious only by excess, may very properly be taxed, that such excess, though not strictly unlawful, may be made more difficult. But the use of those things which are simply hurtful, harmful in their own nature, and in every degree, is to be prohibited.—Lord Chesterfield.

THE PRESIDENT'S POPULARITY

That President Roosevelt is more popular with the masses in this country today, than any man living, is conceded by all classes of people. That he has gained the esteem of the business world, to large extent, is equally apparent.

But the masses do the voting and the unaffected classes are so small numerically in comparison that their strength is insignificant. The president has the ear and the heart of what is known as the common people. They see in him everything to admire and nothing to condemn.

He has done a lot of things that would have consigned a less popular man to oblivion. The Storer letters and the episode which followed, would have killed any ordinary man, but they were forgotten in less than 30 days, and the Brownsville affair, which was clearly a case of undue authority, has never haunted him to any great extent.

The army of idle people all over the land today, fall to connect his name with the era of depression through which the nation is passing. He is the people's president, loved for his honesty and unadorned courage, and while he may not consent to be a candidate for re-election, the people are disposed to favor the man he has selected to succeed him, and the convention will not feel warranted in disregarding the people's wishes.

The selection of a candidate by such a president is an honor of which any man may feel proud, and while it has handicapped Secretary Taft with the class of men who dislike the president, it has proved an element of strength in his campaign.

An effort is being made just now to discredit Taft, and the claim is made that his strength was all developed early in the race. New York, the Bay state, and some of the New England states, are said to be against him, but it will be found that after the favorable opinion have been met, Taft will be the only man in sight. This is well, for no better man could be found to take up the work.

DAY'S OPTIMISM

Chancellor Day of the Syracuse university has gained notoriety by his criticism of President Roosevelt, and by a church trial which followed in which he was acquitted. The chancellor is still talking and in an address delivered the other night before the Y. M. C. A. of New York city he said some practical things about this good old world, in which we live.

He believes that men are not so bad as painted and in speaking of the advantages of living here, said: "You can get anything you want here, go anywhere you like, eat all the fruit you care for, live in any sort of climate you like; but when a man can't stay here any longer, he ought to steer for heaven."

Dr. Day says that for his part he never has been much fascinated with the idea of corner lots and mansions in the skies, and songs and harps and such things.

On the subject of the control by a few men of the wealth of the world he said: "You've heard that sublime, stupid nonsense about half a dozen men putting the world in their pockets and not letting anybody else get any. Why, you may be one of those half dozen some day. Those men aren't going to live forever. If they had Methuselah's life, it might be a serious matter. Men get rich, and then they get fat and get dyspepsia and die. The Lord takes care of that."

Our congressmen and legislators do not make salutes of us, the chancellor told the boys, and said:

"Not a bit of it. They're not in the saint-making business. You don't need laws to make you good. How many of you know what the ordinances of the city of New York are? There are a great many of them, and you walk the streets every day and never think of them. All you need to keep out of trouble is a spirit of righteousness. You have that within you that keeps you from violating the law."

This is the sort of optimism that the world needs today. The bright side of life is always the attractive side, and it is just as easy to find the good as bad. Crime and dishonesty are advertised and every detail finds its way into every home of the land, but virtue and honesty attract but little attention and are never heralded. Dr. Day may be erratic, but he takes a sensible view of life.

SUFFRAGE TO WOMEN

The following argument, prepared by the women of Oregon, has been submitted against proposed legislation on the question of woman suffrage:

"Because suffrage is to be regarded not as a privilege to be enjoyed, but as a duty to be performed, it is not a duty to be performed."

"Because hitherto the women of this state have enjoyed exemption from this burdensome duty, and no adequate reason has been assigned for depriving them of that immunity."

"Because conferring suffrage upon the women who claim it would impose suffrage upon the many women who neither desire it as a privilege nor regard it their duty to seek it."

"Because the need of America is not an increased quantity but an improved quality of the vote, and there is no adequate reason to believe that woman's suffrage, by doubling the vote, will improve its quality."

"Because the household, not the individual, is the unit of the state, and the vast majority of women are represented by household suffrage."

"Because the women not so represented suffer no practical injustice which giving the suffrage will remedy."

"Because equality in character does not imply similarity in function, and the duties and life of men and women are divinely ordered to be different in the state and in the home."

"Because the energies of women are engrossed by their present duties and interests, from which men cannot relieve them, and it is better for the community that they devote their energies to the more efficient performance of their present work, than divert them to new fields of activity."

"Because political equality will deprive women of special privileges hitherto accorded them by the law."

"Because suffrage logically involves the holding of public office, including jury duty, and office-holding is inconsistent with the duties of most women."

"The state of Massachusetts has an organization of women, 14,000 strong, which is doing all it can against woman suffrage. A paper known as the 'Remonstrance,' is published containing many strong arguments against the movement."

IMPROVED RURAL SERVICE

It will be gratifying to the farmers of Rock county to know that the postal authorities at Washington have interested themselves in rural mail conditions in Rock county. A letter, just received from Congressman Cooper, states that an inspector will soon be on the ground to make a tour of investigation with a view to revising the entire system.

The Gazette invites every farmer, who has any complaint to offer, to write a letter to the office without delay. Many have already done so, but the ground should be completely covered and now is the time to do it.

This is a matter that should interest all citizens, as a complete rural service is not only convenient, but of great importance. It will not be practical to establish new routes, but the old ones can be revised, and by increasing the number from 8 to a dozen the entire county will be covered.

The Gazette has taken the initiative in the matter because it is in position to reach the people. If everybody will lend a hand, there is good reason to believe that the work will be accomplished.

Mr. Bryan regards John A. Johnson of Minnesota as an interloper, and claims that he has no right to enter the race against him. New York democrats are of a different opinion, and from the present outlook, a number of other states will support the popular Norwester. Mr. Johnson is popular with the Cleveland wing of the party, and while he may not be able to secure the nomination he may succeed in defeating Mr. Bryan.

The Hepburn bill, which attempts to repeal the Sherman act, legalize the boycott, and other vicious measures, will be pigeonholed by the house committee, much to the credit of the people's lawmakers.

BACK YARD IMPROVEMENT.

Timely Suggestions From an Old Gardener—Vines to Hide Fences.

Well kept grounds in the front of houses help wonderfully in making a town attractive. But the back yards should by no means be neglected, and an old gardener gives some good advice about improving them which is timely at this season of the year:

"Have you a back yard? Grow something in it. See something grow which you have planted with your own hands. No back yard is so small that it may not be made to grow something for the table, and if it happens to be a vacant lot you will be surprised at the quantities it may be made to yield under a little daily attention and some nightly planning. If your back yard consists of only a few square yards, that fact need not deter you from entering upon the joys of the gardener. If the area at your disposal is limited, the time and attention required will be correspondingly small, though the pleasure it may afford will continue throughout the season."

"Anybody can grow radishes and lettuce, and almost anybody can cut them, too, so plant these first. They are prompt in their payment of dividends of pleasure, for their first green paired leaves will appear in three or four days, and your heartiness of welcome for them will do you vastly more good than the possession of two nickels spent for their seed."

"If you have only a few square yards at your disposal, spend it up at any time in early spring. If the lot is large enough to admit of a team, have it plowed once a year in the spring or fall. Plant everything in rows the long way of the plot. Even put your lettuce and radishes in rows. This will admit the greatest ease in cultivation; but, more important still, this method will permit of the most ready substitution by subsequently planting other crops when the first have been consumed."

"For example, if your lettuce is one long row instead of occupying a rectangular bed, as it is customarily grown by the town farmer, when it is no longer tender, crisp and sweet you can clean up the whole row and plant beans in its place or anything else suitable to the narrow space of one row."

"A high board fence is an eyesore, yet many people are unwilling to cover it with vines, because sooner or later these will cause the wood to decay. The thing to do is to put up chicken wire in front of the fence and grow the vines on the wire."

"Village vines, except English ivy, are good for this purpose. Virginia creeper and ampelopsis are two of the best of these. Vines with abundant foliage make a good background for cosmos, hollyhocks, single dahlias and other flowers that require support. These can be tied to the wire as they grow, or else flowering annual vines can be planted each year—cypress vine, morning glory, climbing nasturtiums or sweet peas, for beauty. For use and as a curiosity plant some mixed gourd seeds. Two cents' worth will provide as many dollars' worth of surprise and entertainment."

"Of course your little garden will be a delight, but it will never be so alluring as to tempt you to spend more than the necessary labor or cash upon it."

Home Trade Philosophy.

If you eat your bread upon the waters it may return to you after many days, but if you eat your dollar into the mail order mailstrom it never gets back to your vicinity.

Seeing is believing, and when you see an article before you buy it you are entitled to believe that it is worth buying or to let it stay unbought if otherwise.

Farmers who send their money into the big cities to buy goods which they might just as well buy at home will find their sons following the dollars of their daddies into the great trade centers as soon as the boys grow up and will have to compromise on hired men.

If you don't like the community you live in well enough to do your trading in that community, why don't you move into some community that you like better? In that case maybe somebody would take your place who would help to make it a better community to live in by helping to build it up.

Thousands of men throughout this country are howling down the idea of centralization of government while at the same time they are promoting the centralization of trade by spending money with the catalogue houses, which are rapidly growing more and more powerful.

Popular Street Trees.

There is no doubt if it is properly handled that the pepper tree is nearest to the ideal for street planting. The chief and, in fact, the only objection urged against it is that it raises the sidewalk and pushes out the curb either by roots or buttresses of the trunk. These difficulties are easily avoided if proper preparation is made, says the Los Angeles Times. The pepper roots and buttresses are made above ground only because of resistance below. If the soil is loose and permeable for a considerable distance below the surface the roots will delve deeply and no trouble will be experienced. On the other hand, if the ground is so hard that top resistance is less than that below no other result must be expected than that the roots will come up and the trunk buttresses will be caused. It cannot go down, therefore it must grow sideways. This argument will hold good in greater or lesser measure with all trees.

To Encourage Tree Planting.

Trees are so thoroughly appreciated in Denver that the city annually supplies citizens with young stock to encourage planting.

EFFICIENT WORK CAPTURES THIEF

CHIEF APPLEBY AND OFFICER MASON MAKE RICH HAUL.

GIVEN YEAR AT GREEN BAY

Clever work by Chief of Police George M. Appleby and rare judgment on the part of Officer William Mason resulted in the capture of a steady thief last evening within twenty-five minutes of the time he had committed his theft in the dressing rooms of the Myers theatre.
The first act of Miss Blanche Walsh's production of "The Kreutzer Sonata" was nearing a close when the theatre property man, Charles Bates, noticed a youth who had been hanging around the theatre all day loitering around the dressing rooms. Manager John Moore of the company was notified and an investigation showed that several rooms had been entered and the valuables of the occupants stolen.
Telephone communication with Chief of Police George Appleby apprised him of the facts in the case and Charles Bates hurried to the station to give an accurate description of the suspected youth. It was estimated that in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars' worth of money and jewelry had been stolen, including some rare and valuable rings belonging to George W. Howard.

Officer William Mason was in the station when the telephone message was received and was instructed to search the South River street saloons. Charles Bates went to the interior station to guard against the possibility of the suspected youth leaving the city by that route and Officers Tom Morrissey and Sam Brown had just been notified to make a thorough search of the city when Mason returned with his prisoner, whom he had arrested at the corner of Pleasant and River streets.

While identified as the youth who had hung around the theatre all day, the boy said his name was Bert Johnson, his home Chicago, his age sixteen, and professed to be entirely ignorant of the cause of his arrest. A preliminary search failed to reveal any valuables and he was ordered to strip. His clothes were then searched and his old pocketbook containing valuable jewelry was discovered, but no money.
He was then put through the second degree by the Chief and confessed to having thrown away a roll of bills at the corner of Bennett's marble shop as Officer Mason was bringing him up. A lantern search by Mason and Brown disclosed the money, five twenty-dollar bills, and the total list of jewelry and money missing with the exception of $1.50 the youth had spent, was accounted for.

Within twenty-five minutes of the time he was notified of the robbery Chief Appleby telephoned Manager Moore of the theatre company the thief was captured and the stolen property recovered. "It was the quickest piece of work I ever heard of," said Mr. Moore last evening. "I thought the property gone and the greatest of credit belongs to the Chief and Officer Mason for the work they have done."

With simply a description of the man wanted Mason's arrest of the thief was clever work that deserves much credit. He wanted no time in taking his man in custody once he saw him and was back at the station almost before the plans to drag the city were completed by the Chief.

In the court this morning Johnson pleaded guilty, stuck to his tale of being from Chicago and his sixteen and tearfully told the judge he saw the money and jewelry and could not resist taking them. He was given one year in the Green Bay Reformatory and will probably be taken there tomorrow.

Little is known of Johnson beyond the fact he came up from Beloit on the interurban yesterday with a theatrical manager of a stock company and helped him carry a roll of bills to the theatre. He hung around here all day and stated he was formerly employed on the stage at Belvidere, speaking to Mr. Winniger, manager of the Winniger Bros. stock company, about that city.

He formerly traveled with Gollmar Bros. circus and stated this morning that he had worked in the Nelson hotel at Rockford. He said he had an aunt named Johnson living at 29th and Dearborn streets in Chicago. He was certain his age was sixteen, although he looked older and has the earmarks of a clever crook.

He hung about the theatre all afternoon helping unload the scenery of the Walsh company and taking an opportunity when the actors were busy entered the dressing rooms and made a rich haul with which he slipped away from the theatre only to be arrested a few minutes later.

His booty consisted of eighty dollars in money, a $250 diamond horse shoe steekpin, a diamond ring worth $150, a second one worth $125, a magnificent garnet, and a peculiar owl head steekpin, antique and very valuable, from Mr. George Howard's room, $5 in currency from Mrs. Hopkins' room, $2.50 from Miss Walsh, $1.50 from Miss Bennett, and $1.50 from William Travers, Miss Walsh's husband. He also took seventy-five cents of "prony" money used on the stage, evidently mistaking it for the real article.

Where the Blame Belongs.
The man who blames his wife because she doesn't love him never stops to think that he is probably to blame.

The meeting of Circle No. 8 will be postponed until next week Friday, April 24th. Mrs. Robb, president.

EDWARD H. BOWER WAS FINED $200

Entered a Plea of Guilty to Charge of Statutory Offense in Municipal Court This Morning.

Edward Henry Bower, the individual who was arrested at an East side hotel some time after midnight Monday evening, in company with a woman not his wife, made his appearance in municipal court this morning. On advice of his attorney, E. D. McGowan, he waived examination and entered a plea of "guilty" to the statutory charge preferred against him. Atty. McGowan entered a plea for leniency. He said that Mrs. Bower was in such a condition that her suffering would be greatly aggravated at no distant date should there be no one to take care of her and urged that a fine be imposed in place of a prison sentence.

Judge Fifeled in addressing the prisoner said: "Of course you are a man of sufficient experience to know that this is a very serious charge. Under most circumstances I would not be disposed to show any leniency. I don't know whether (the lesson will) make any difference in your actions or not. I hope it will. It certainly ought to. You cannot expect to continue doing this sort of thing and escape punishment."

District Attorney Fisher said: "In view of the condition of this man's wife and the fact that she would suffer for a greater punishment than the defendant if he were sent to prison, it might be advisable to impose only a fine in this instance. But I wish to take the opportunity to say that practices of this kind are becoming altogether too common in this vicinity. So far as the man, himself, is concerned I cannot see any excuse for his running about with other women when he has a good wife at home."

Judge Fifeled: "As the district attorney says, the idea of some persons in this community appear to be rather lax and it is time to call a halt. I will impose in this case a fine of $200 and costs amounting to $7.20, and in default of payment the defendant will be committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid, not exceeding six months." The money was paid.

CHANGES IN BASEBALL

Present Season to Witness Battle of Rising and Setting Suns.

MANY OLD TIMERS MAY GO.

Several Heroes of the Diamond Yielding to Age, With a Multitude of Younger Stars Forcing Them From Their Pedestals.

Young blood in the big baseball leagues is likely to assert itself this season. A number of the best players on the diamond today have already reached the afternoon of their careers, and quite a number are even close to the finish. Some of these bright suns will set during the 1908 season. At the same time there are dozens of shining lights that are rising and will continue to make the world of baseball bright. Before the 1908 season has passed some of these young ones will have replaced the veteran stars, and on them the fans of America will be showering their attention.

For several years Larry Lajolo, second baseman of the Cleveland club, has been hailed as the king of the diamond. In every city of the circuit he has been seen with delight, and his work with the bat as well as in the field has exceeded that of all others. But last season Larry failed for the first time since he has been a big leaguer to hit above the .300 mark. He lacked but one point, but it showed that he was not the same Lajolo as of old.

Then the man who may take his place as the greatest of all second basemen will have his days of glory, and right now it looks as if that man will surely be little Johnny Evers of the Chicago Nationals. Evers has all the qualities that Lajolo ever had except batting. His fielding is already equal to Larry's, and on inside baseball he has no equal in either league.

Among the pitchers of the two big leagues there is bound to be the greatest changes in the next few years. There are too many veterans among the stars today for them to hold their prestige much longer. Christy Mathewson has probably already had his day, although, if reports from the Giants' training quarters are to be believed, Mathewson is as good now as he was three years ago. Three years ago no one approached him. He was in a class all by himself. But then Mordecai Brown came to the front, and Ruthless, and only last year Overall, all of whom have now placed above the once wonderful New Yorker.

In the American league old Cy Young has held forth longer than any pitcher alive. For seventeen years he has been a star, a feat that no one of the past has equaled. But no one knows better than old Cy himself that his days are numbered and the younger twirlers are going to replace him. Today we have Walsh, White, Howell, Jones, Plank, Waddell and Donovan as leaders in the American league, but they are all veterans. Some one is going to pass them in the near future, and the prospects of the young pitchers in that league are indeed bright.

The catchers of the big leagues also are for the most part well along in years—that is, those who have the big reputations. Johnny Kling had the best year of his career last season and should be strong for another one or two. Billy Sullivan, the great White Sox backstop, is not the same as two seasons ago, although still the best in the league. But there are one or two young fellows who are bound to pass the veterans very soon.

Little Hobby Byrne of the St. Louis Cardinals was one of the surprises last season. It is quite possible that his name will be praised even above Steinfield and Devlin and Bradley within another season. Last year he was a wonder, although he made many errors. However, he took more than a hundred more chances in the game than any other third baseman in the National league.

Alperman of Brooklyn, Knabe of Philadelphia, Miles of New York and Nichols of the Athletics are other young infielders who are about to pass the veterans.

"Jiggs" Donohue was supreme on first base in the American league, but now Hal Chase threatens his title. But Keneth of the Cardinals and Swecina of the Pirates are others who are climbing. This year will see many more young players in the big leagues. They all start in with equal chances. Some will fall out after a thorough trial, but some will be the great stars of the diamond before three more years have passed.

M'CARREN OUSTED FROM CONVENTION

KINGS COUNTY MAN UNSEATED IN NEW YORK GATHERING.

HE MAKES DIRE THREATS

Uninstructed Delegation to Denver Is Elected—Michigan Committee Split as to Indorsing Bryan.

New York, Apr. 16.—State Senator Patrick H. McCarren, leader of the Kings County Democracy, was unseated Wednesday night as a delegate to the party's state convention in Carnegie hall to select representatives to the Denver national convention, after a two-days' bitter contest before the committee on credentials. He was alternately greeted with cheers and derisive cries when he finally addressed the convention, and once was insulted by a man on the platform near him. The senator told this man he would talk to him outside the hall.

Amid scenes tense and dramatic in the extreme, he first appealed to the convention to refuse to sanction the majority report of the committee, and followed this up with deliberate defiance of those who, he said, were excluding him from the place in the party councils to which he had been chosen by his Democratic constituents. He threatened the Tammany delegates with the statement that if the plans to put him outside the party lines were carried out, no one in the convention hall would live long enough to see the election of another Democratic mayor of New York city.

Coler Takes McCarren's Seat. The business for which the convention was assembled, the selection of delegates to the national convention, the nomination of presidential electors and the adoption of a platform, was almost forgotten in the excitement over the McCarren contest.

When the vote was announced McCarren with his followers rose and left the hall, while their friends in the gallery gave them a parting cheer. Another cheer greeted Mr. A. C. Coler of Kings as he and his fellow-delegates entered to replace the McCarren men. Senator McCarren said that he would carry his fight to the Denver convention.

Delegates Not Instructed. After the settlement of the McCarren and other contests, the convention proceeded with its task and named delegates and electors and adopted a platform which declared the delegation should be uninstructed.

These are the names of the delegates-at-large: Alton H. Parker, New York; Charles F. Murphy, New York; Lewis Nixon, New York; Charles Froeh, Brooklyn.

Michigan Divided as to Bryan. Lansing, Mich., Apr. 16.—The Democratic state central committee at a meeting here Wednesday was almost evenly divided upon the question of formally indorsing the candidacy of William J. Bryan for the nomination for president. The vote in the committee stood 11 in favor of an indorsement of the Bryan candidacy and 12 against indorsement, the matter being referred to the state convention. It was decided to hold the state convention in Lansing May 20.

The committeemen who opposed the indorsement said they were not opposing Mr. Bryan's candidacy, but they held that it was not in accordance with the principles of the party for the state committee to indorse any candidate.

Minnesota for Taft. Minneapolis, Minn., Apr. 16.—The Minnesota Republican state convention to elect four delegates-at-large to the national convention and to nominate 11 presidential electors, assembled in the Minneapolis Auditorium at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and indications were that the convention would not last more than two hours.

As the delegates from a large majority of the counties are bound by Taft instructions, there seemed no doubt that the national delegates to be chosen will be instructed for the secretary of war for the presidential nomination.

Lewis in Race for Governor. Chicago, April 16.—Col. James Hamilton Lewis made a formal avowal of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor Wednesday, and his campaign managers at once shot petitions broadcast over the state to have his name placed on the primary ballot.

Speeches by Gov. Deane. Beardstown, Ill., Apr. 16.—Gov. Deane made two running speeches Wednesday, in which he sought to unmask his opponents in regard to the primary bill. The first speech was delivered at Winchester, and the other in this city.

Veteran Sporting Editor Dies. New York, Apr. 16.—John H. Mandigo, for 20 years the head of the sporting department of the Sun, died Wednesday, aged 50 years. He had been in the employ of the Sun for 33 years, having begun as an office boy.

Steamer Upsets; Eight Drown. Gothenburg, Sweden, Apr. 16.—The small steamer Gothenburg capsized here Wednesday afternoon. Thirty or 40 persons were aboard the steamer at the time of the accident and at least eight were drowned.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Herbert M. Hoyt fell dead in Philadelphia, when accused of embezzling $12,000 from the Franklin Institute.

Rev. Henry Hickok, aged 83, one of the first American missionaries to China, is dead at Watertown, N. Y.

Curtis B. Savage, a sewing-machine dealer, was struck and killed in Rockford, Ill., by Roman Potts, a contractor.

Clifford Vernon, the ten-year-old son of Thompson Vernon, hanged himself in his father's barn near Mount Vernon, O.

Joseph Sackel and Arthur Proud were drowned in Lake Michigan at Chicago while their families looked on, helpless.

President Roosevelt will again nominate John W. Jackson to be postmaster at Columbia, Tenn., the postmaster general having recommended that the nomination, which was withdrawn from the senate on March 30, be again sent to that body.

PROMINENT MAN CONVICTED.

R. N. Harper of Washington Fined Under the Pure Food Law.

Washington, Apr. 16.—As a result of the first conviction under the pure food and drugs law, Robert N. Harper, president of the Washington chamber of commerce, formerly president of the American National bank, a drug manufacturer, and one of the best known business men in this city, was Wednesday sentenced by Judge Kimball in the police court to pay a fine of $500 on one count and $200 on another count of the indictment recently returned against him for manufacturing and selling an alleged mislabeled pharmaceutical compound. President Roosevelt had insisted that the prosecuting officer demand a jail sentence.

New Royal Arcanum Officers. Springfield, Ill., Apr. 16.—At a session, lasting until after midnight, the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the grand council of Illinois of the Royal Arcanum, elected the following officers: Grand regent, Harry A. Sullivan of Chicago; grand vice-regent, Charles R. Hopley of Ravenswood; grand orator, Joseph Lindquist of Chicago; grand secretary, John Kiley of Chicago (re-elected); grand treasurer, Frank L. Wilk of Chicago (re-elected); grand auditor, George W. Manterio of Hyde Park.

Alleged Embezzler Caught. New York, Apr. 16.—A man described as Daniel A. Pearsall of Brownsville, Fayette county, Pa., was arrested here Wednesday charged with the embezzlement of $13,000. Pearsall was treasurer of the Moorhead Coal company of Fayette county, and the complaint against him alleges that he defrauded the stockholders of the company.

Cupid's Agent Sent to Prison. Chicago, Apr. 16.—Marion Gray, "Cupid hunter," was sentenced to one year in the house of correction by Judge K. M. Landis Wednesday for misuse of the mails in conducting the Searchlight Matrimonial club at Elgin.

FLOOD LOSS IS MILLIONS

TOWN OF CRAIG DESTROYED BY THE HAUSER LAKE DISASTER.

Broken Dam Certainly Will Be Rebuilt—City of Great Falls Not in Danger.

Helena, Mont., Apr. 16.—With the little town of Craig wiped entirely off the map, thousands of head of cattle and livestock drowned and scores of valuable ranches greatly damaged, the loss from the flood caused by the breaking of the great 70-foot dam at Hauser lake, it is conservatively estimated, will reach several million dollars.

In view, however, of the contract between the Helena Power Transmission company, owners of the dam and the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron company of Milwaukee, the latter company, it is said, will be liable for all damage resulting from the flood.

After making a careful examination of the dam site Wednesday, since the water receded, A. H. Gorry, Jr., general manager, is of the opinion that the wrecked structure can be rebuilt at a cost of probably less than $250,000. That the dam will be rebuilt at once and the construction of the third dam at Wolf creek which was approved by Secretary of War Taft will not be delayed, is assured by a telegram received in Helena from former Gov. Samuel T. Hauser, president of the Helena Power Transmission company, who is now in New York.

The indications are that the water has receded sufficiently to prevent any great damage at Great Falls. Every precaution has been taken to protect the Helena and Montana smelter, which is situated on the river banks at Great Falls, and it is now believed that the plant will not suffer from the flood waters.

Ditto, Mont., Apr. 16.—Great Northern Agent Stewart of Wolf creek reports to the local office that the track from Wolf creek east as far as he can see is flooded to a depth of three feet and that for three miles or more it is completely washed out. It is feared conservatively that for at least 20 days no trains can go over the line. This will tie up practically the entire traffic of the Great Northern between Helena and St. Paul.

CRAUEL HOAX ON A WOMAN. False Report of Son's Death Sent to Iowa from Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Apr. 16.—Mrs. Margaret A. Pennington, who lives on a little farm near Fayette, La., arrived here Wednesday in response to a telegram that her son, Amos, was dead, and found that she had been the victim of a fake message. The telegram was received by Mrs. Edward Frost of Waterloo, Ia., and stated that Amos Pennington had been found dead with a note on his person asking that she be notified. The telegram was forwarded to Mrs. Pennington, who had but three weeks before buried a 13-year-old son. She hurried here and found that her son was alive and well. The name of a local friend of Pennington's was signed to the telegram, but the friend denies all knowledge of it.

Scores Made by Teams in the Several Leagues.

Following are the scores, in runs, hits and errors, of Wednesday's ball games: National league: At St. Louis—Pittsburg, 3, 8, 4; St. Louis, 1, 7, 0. American association: At Columbus—Columbus, 5, 7, 2; St. Paul, 4, 8, 4. At Louisville—Milwaukee, 2, 9, 0; Louisville, 1, 4, 3. At Indianapolis—Indianapolis, 4, 8, 2; Kansas City, 2, 8, 1. Western league: At Lincoln—Bloux City, 4, 0, 2; Lincoln, 1, 5, 3. At Denver—Denver, 6, 0, 1; Pueblo, 3, 5, 2. At Des Moines—Omaha 10, 10, 0; Des Moines, 2, 7, 1.

Chicago Man Falls Dead.

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 16.—James Vincent Burke, a furnace inventor of Chicago, dropped dead in the pool room of the St. Nicholas hotel Wednesday. Dr. McCracken, medical director of the Royal Arcanum, to the convention of which Burke was a delegate, was summoned and found life extinct. Burke was 52 years old.

Carnegie Offers $3,000,000 More. Pittsburgh, Pa., Apr. 16.—Andrew Carnegie has offered to donate $3,000,000 more to the Carnegie Technical schools of this city on condition that the city purchase 42 acres of ground adjoining the present site of the schools. It is estimated that the ground will cost $1,250,000.

McKinley Home Is Sold. Canton, O., Apr. 16.—The home of the late President McKinley was formally transferred Wednesday to Mrs. Rosa C. Klorer of Canton, the price being $21,000. The sale was effected through Miss Helen McKinley electing to take the property under the appraisement at $20,000.

Noted Horseman Is Dead. Philadelphia, Pa., Apr. 16.—William W. Blair, who trained and developed the famous trotting mare Maud S. and drove her to the record of 2:08 1/2, died here Wednesday, aged 69 years. He was one of the best-known horsemen in the country.

Poplar Bluff to Have Building. Washington, Apr. 16.—The senate Wednesday passed bills providing for a public building at Poplar Bluff, Mo., to cost $10,000 and creating a forest reservation at Cass Lake, Minn.

FOREIGNERS ATTACK AMERICANS IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

Enraged Because Natives Are Given the Preference When Aluminum Works Are Reopened.

East St. Louis, Ill., Apr. 16.—More than 150 workmen fought at the works of the American Aluminum works Wednesday when Armenian, Greek and Turkish laborers became angry because the company, in taking back its employees, gave preference to Americans and negroes.

The timekeeper's shanty at the main gate of the works was demolished and many heads were battered with sticks and stones.

The plant was closed early in December. It was announced that it would reopen Wednesday and that 100 of the men would be taken back. After 30 men, all native Americans, had been put to work, the foreigners charged on the gates. The Americans, greatly outnumbered, tried to fight them off, but they surged into the yard and were overrunning the works when "Timukowep," T. C. Sharp drew his revolver and forced them to retreat.

The fight was carried to the hills around the works and to the shores of Pittsburgh lake to the north, and continued until the police arrived in response to a riot call and quelled the trouble.

MONEY FOR TOBACCO FARMERS.

Equity Society's Pool Receipts Ready for Distribution.

Lexington, Ky., Apr. 16.—It was announced here Wednesday by Secretary J. D. Clark of the Fayette branch of the Equity Tobacco society that checks for $32,500 would be received here Thursday for distribution to growers who have tobacco in the pool. At the same time checks will be sent to other counties in this district as their pro rata of the money received from sales so far of the Equity Tobacco society. This will be the first distribution of money to the farmers whose tobacco has been in pool for two years, and there is great rejoicing over the burlap district. The Society of Equity is said to be negotiating with a big English firm for the sale of a large amount of the pooled crop.

Meets Brother Mourned as Dead. Springfield, Ill., Apr. 16.—John Garrigus of Mount Auburn was astonished and delighted Wednesday to meet his brother, Jefferson B. G. Garrigus, whom he had mourned as dead, and to whose memory he had erected a tombstone in the family burying ground in Mansfield, Ind. Eighteen months ago, John Garrigus read an account of the killing of his brother in a train wreck.

Kills Daughter and Himself. Asheville, N. C., Apr. 16.—Dr. C. O. Swinney, who recently came here from New York, Wednesday shot and fatally wounded his 16-year-old daughter Nellie, and then killed himself in the reception room of a girl's boarding school in this city. It is said he became enraged because his daughter took part in an April fool prank.

Theater Robber Soon Caught. Janesville, Wis., Apr. 16.—Gus Johnson, 18 years old of Chicago, Wednesday night robbed the dressing rooms of Blanche Walsh's company, playing here, taking $1,200 worth of money and jewelry. Within 20 minutes Johnson was arrested in a saloon, and all the property was recovered.

Andrew Johnson Is Honored. Washington, Apr. 16.—Secretary Taft Wednesday ordered that the National cemetery at Grovesville, Tenn., be designated and hereafter known as "The Andrew Johnson National Cemetery" in honor of the former president.

Old-Time Circuit Rider Dead. Lafayette, Ind., Apr. 16.—Rev. William H. Blair, one of the oldest Presbyterian ministers in Indiana, died here Wednesday, aged 76. He was one of the earliest circuit riders in Indiana and Ohio.

Dry Win in Danville, Va. Danville, Va., Apr. 16.—The city of Danville Wednesday voted against licensing saloons, the majority against license being 45 votes.

VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT.

Attractive Types in European Hamlets That Could Be Copied Here.

A well known writer on civic improvement has written that we too often overlook some of our beautifying by having the task too long undone or until we get so wrought up over the necessity of its accomplishment that we continue on to the opposite extreme—too many country roadides, even whole villages, are slicked up until all beauty is sucked out of them. There is a happy medium beyond which we should not go when dealing with rural or village scenery, says the Los Angeles Times. In the city one may indulge himself as far as is possible in securing everything until its brightness shines on all about, but village scenery will not admit of like treatment.

While in the United States we clean up natural and artificial alike until the latter term will apply to all, we much admire the quiet, quaint, wholesome villages of Europe, where in the very heart and center moss grown stone bridges arch between banks whose slopes are covered with underbrush, ferns and other denizens of the woodland. Many of these old European villages, founded one or two thousand years ago, have the same tangled wildwood along either side of their streams that was present when the first settler came.

The fitness and charm of such treatment or lack of treatment have been recognized in many towns and cities of our country where parkways have been built along the banks of streams, often for stretches of several miles. No feature of civic improvement would add more of charm to the whole of Los Angeles than to have the narrow strips along the banks of the Los Angeles river planted to suitable trees and shrubs. Railroads should be compelled to keep their tracks further away from the official river banks and maintain a narrow park alongside their right of way. Some eastern cities have so ordained.

TREES FOR STREETS.

Why Oaks Are Ideal and How to Plant Them.

There is a growing appreciation of oaks for street planting throughout our own and foreign countries. In California, especially in the south, sentiment has moved us to plant live oaks largely because they are becoming scarcer each year. When intelligently treated they form ideal street trees, but large holes for them should be dug and plenty of water supplied for the first five years of their life. After that one would have little to fear, says the Los Angeles Times. In a list of the best ten street trees compiled by two men, one of whom traveled in Europe, the other in the United States and Canada, the oaks have the first six places. In California the oak will certainly prove more satisfactory in every way than our native live oak. In Europe a native deciduous species is largely used, known to us as the English oak, a tree somewhat grown in southern California, and for a deciduous tree it is fairly satisfactory. Grown for a summer shade it is very satisfactory in the garden and is a handsome tree.

Avenues of this tree are quite common throughout central Europe, and the city of Hamburg, in Germany, has grown right into the ancient forest of this oak, so that many of these arboreal giants are now in the city proper. Oaks have been extensively planted of late years in Washington, Boston and many of the larger eastern cities. The red oak holds first place, with the pin oak a close second. Neither grows well in southern California, but both do better in the north end of the state.

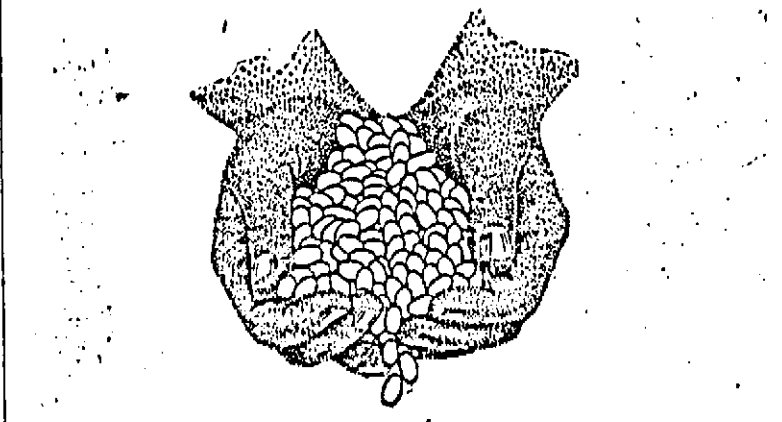

War on Electric Light Signs. Berlin's police department has determined to get rid of the monstrous electric light signs and advertisements which to the artist make night hideous in many of the principal streets and open places of the German capital.

"During the day it is bad enough," says the president of the Berlin Art academy, "to see otherwise handsome buildings with huge roof signs advertising cigarettes and dog cake and certain infallible nostrums for stomach ache and nerves. But at night it is intolerable to see in every direction those blinking, insistent lights high in the air at the end of every romantic and beautiful street vista telling their ugly, monotonous, maddening tale of chocolate and biscuits."

Value of Rubbish Cans. No other movement inaugurated of late years for improvement of town or village life has met with such a universal response as the placing of cans or other receptacles for rubbish along streets. But a few years ago they were not to be found in southern California. Now they are present in every really live place, and reports from other sections of the country show conclusively that the practice has become quite universal. The individual receives in this way a suggestion to keep his premises as well as street frontage free from rubbish and litter of all sorts.

Clean City Plan for Children. The board of education of Chester, Pa., has extended permission to Mrs. Henry Clay Cochrane, chairman of the civic improvement committee of the New Century club, to introduce into the public schools the formation of companies among the children of from ten to fourteen years of age of a society to be called the League of Good Citizenship, the object being to encourage the children in all matters relating to good citizenship, with the view of eliciting their co-operation in keeping the city clean.

Test of Political Institutions. The test of political institutions is the condition of the country whose fortunes they regulate.—Lancasterfield.

We could buy beans as low as 30 cents per bushel, yet we pay $2.10 for ours

We use Michigan beans picked over by hand. We buy only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown. They are baked in live steam—not in dry heat. Thus the skins are not broken, the beans are not scorched. The result is, all the beans are baked until they are mealy. Yet they are nutty, not mushy.

We could buy tomato sauce ready made for one-fifth of our cost to make it

Tomato sauce is often made from tomatoes picked green, and ripened in shipment. Such sauce is flat. Some sauce is made from scraps of a canning factory, but such sauce is not rich.

Ours is made only from whole vine-ripened tomatoes. That is why you get a sparkling zest in Van Camp's, a piquant tang which never is found in others.

Van Camp's pork and beans baked with tomato sauce

Beans, above all foods, should be factory cooked. It requires a fierce heat to break down the fibre—to make beans digestible—and no home can supply it. Our ovens are heated to 245 degrees. Then you miss, in home cooking, the delicious blend that we get by baking the sauce and the beans together.

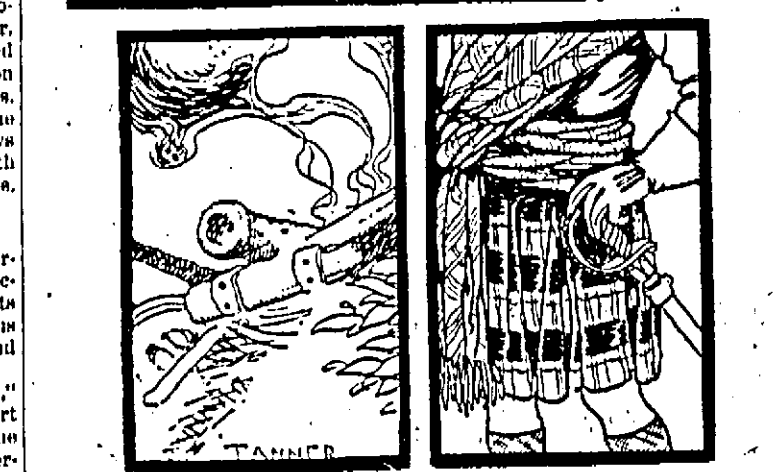

Put the can in hot water, and your meal can be served in ten minutes

Beans are Nature's choicest food—23% nitrogenous, 84% nutriment. Even wheat falls below them in nutriment. No food is liked better; no food is cheaper.

Then why not serve the most delicious beans that you know? Make your people want them daily. And why not keep a dozen cans in the house—a dozen meals always ready?

Big Hat Factory Falls. Wabash, Ind., Apr. 16.—Nathan Meyer, proprietor of the Pioneer hat factory, Wednesday applied for a receivership and two receivers will be named. In the statement to creditors Mr. Meyer placed his liabilities at $352,000 and assets at $255,000. This is one of the largest hat factories in the west.

Fashionably Clad. A bachelor who had been to dinner in a fashionable house was asked by one of his female relatives about a certain lady among his fellow-guests. "What did she wear?" was the eager inquiry. "I don't know," he replied; "I didn't look under the table."

ANNUAL REPORT OF TREASURER

SHOWING CONDITION OF THE CITY'S SEVERAL FUNDS.

IS SUBMITTED THIS WEEK

Junkdealers' and Theatre Managers Have Helped Swell the Revenues with License Fees.
At the council meeting Monday night City Treasurer James A. Fisher submitted his annual report for the 12 months ending March 31, 1908. The report had to be drawn up later than usual this year owing to the fact that the tax sale could not be cleared up until March 28, and the new system of collecting taxes once a year will hereafter make it necessary to withhold the report until about the first of April.

Balances in Various Funds
The following balances are shown in the various funds:

|-----------------|-------------|
| School | $23,297.28 |
| General | 5,544.00 |
| Water and Sewer | 4,941.12 |
| Lighting | 7,332.73 |
| Library | 1,287.97 |
| Bridge | 3,710.99 |
| First Ward | 28.49 |
| Second Ward | 1,235.85 |
| Third Ward | 1,239.39 |
| Fourth Ward | 1,088.22 |
| Fifth Ward | 168.32 |

The Memorial Day fund balance is $75; the municipal court balance, $328.94; and tax certificates redeemed, balance, $332.85. The accounting of the judgment fund shows that $342.10 was paid to John Brown and that there is no balance on hand. The following amounts remain in seven sewer district funds: No. 1—$710.79; No. 2—$1,575.56; No. 3—$1,242.58; No. 4—$1,257.56; No. 5—$740.10. The interest account shows a balance of $1,435.81. The accounting of the Police fund shows that $1,851.50 was received from the various insurance agencies; that $336.10 of this amount was turned over to Secretary E. D. Holmstrom of the fire police patrol and that $895.40 was transferred to a permanent pension fund for firemen, leaving no balance.

Sources of Revenue
In addition to direct taxes, there were numerous sources of revenue to the General and School funds, a few of which may be mentioned. The General fund was increased by $233.32 rental paid by the county for the municipal court room and by $150.31 city marshals' fees for county work, collected by W. H. Appleby. Orders amounting to $22,297.70 were drawn on this fund. The School fund received $2,038.75 in tuition fees; $715 in city penalties imposed by the municipal court; $50 license fees from the Barnum & Bailey circus; $329.20 transferred from the dog license fund; $200 in $25 license fees from the following junk dealers: A. Mikolaj, J. Colston, (2), Sam. Anton, Joe Telsch, Gilbert Brown, M. Goldfish, and J. Marbury; and six $10 license fees from the following theatre managers: McVicar Bros., James Conners (2), Peter L. Myers, Maurice Dalton, and Henry Parks; $177.50 from three breweries paid $25,000 in $500 license fees and $1,500 of this amount went into the fire and water fund.

FLOYD FURNISHED

FOR HIS INAUGURATION IN MONTGOMERY AS PRESIDENT OF CONFEDERACY.

"ENGLISH" COACH WAS USED

Former Janesville Resident Was in Business in South During the Slurbing Times of the Rebellion.

George P. Floyd, who ran the Hyatt House here long before the Civil War and is now visiting Janesville for the first time in fifty years, has many interesting bits of hitherto unpublished history of the southern side of the late rebellion. He was in Montgomery when the south really left the Union and elected Jefferson Davis as their President. The carriage Davis rode to his inauguration in was one furnished by Mr. Floyd and he writes of it very interestingly.

It is a well known fact that the Southern Confederacy was formed and organized with a rush.

On the 20th of September, 1860, South Carolina passed the memorial ordinance of secession from the Union. The event of South Carolina's formal withdrawal from the union was treated by the north with derision and laughter, and all united in affecting the most entire and ready willingness to let South Carolina go out of the Union and paddle her own canoe. "Let the prodigal go," exclaimed the political preachers of the north and a Godspeed was added by the northern people in general. And yet a few months later, and these people and their followers were in agonies of anxiety and paroxysms of fury to reclaim what they called the "rebel states," declaring that their cities should be laid in ashes and their soil sown with blood, and drew their imagination and hopes to a picture, not of the return of the prodigal, but of the return of the "rebel" turning home to find their wives and children cowering in rags and famine sitting by the roadside.

Within thirty days after South Carolina had withdrawn from the fold, five other states, North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia and Mississippi, had followed South Carolina and withdrawn from the Union. Everything was conducted in a pell-mell, haphazard manner.

Six weeks after the first state had withdrawn from the union a convention of delegates from the six seceding states assembled in congress at Montgomery, Ala., for the purpose of organizing a provisional government. The body adopted a constitution for the Confederate states on Feb. 8, 1862. On the 18th of February the Confederate congress proceeded to the election of a president and vice-president, and unanimously agreed upon Jefferson Davis of Mississippi for president, and Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia for vice-president. Everything was conducted in a helterskelter manner.

Dignity His Mark.

Mr. Davis was a man whose dignity, whose political scholarship, whose classical and lofty expressions, whose literary style, unexcelled perhaps in power of statement by any contemporary model; whose pure morals, well poised manner and distinguished air were likely to adorn the high station to which he had been raised, and calculated to qualify him in many striking respects as a representative of the proud and chivalrous people of the south, but these accomplishments concealed from view the hard and superficial defects of character which were most serious. Indeed almost vital in their consequences, and which were rapidly to be developed in the course of his administration of the new government. His dignity was a mask of a peculiar obstinacy which, stimulated by an intellectual conceit, spurred the passions of equal minds and rejected the advice of the intelligent, while it was curiously not inconsistent with a complete subservience to the smallest and most unworthy of favorites.

He had no practical judgment. His intercourse with men was too distant and constrained for studies of human nature, and his estimates of the value of particular men were grotesque and absurd. The special qualifications of a great leader in the circumstances in which Mr. Davis was placed would have been strong and active common-sense, quick apprehension, knowledge of men and disposition to consult the aggregate wisdom of the people and gather judgment from every possible source of practical advice within reach.

Mr. Davis had none of these plain qualities—he had instead certain elegant and brilliant accomplishments which dazzled the multitude, confused the world in the judgment of his merits and gave him a singular reputation in which admirers and enemies were strangely mingled.

Call for a Carriage.

Jeff Davis' inaugural address was delivered at the state capital at Montgomery, Feb. 18th, 1862. At that time the writer was engaged in the stage and transfer business at Montgomery, Ala. While a modest short time before the secession movement, I ran across a carriage which was from a model of the carriages then being used by the nobles of London. I placed it in my stable at Montgomery as a public carriage. The carriage attracted a great deal of attention from its resemblance to the carriages then being used in England. It was known in Montgomery as the English carriage. Some wag circulated the story that I had imported the carriage from London, and I have no recollection of contradicting the story. The carriage was in great demand by the families of the cabinet officials, as well as other high Confederate officials. They wanted the carriage because it was of English make; they didn't want to ride in a carriage manufactured by the "nasty Yankees." I kept the English carriage on tap for the special use of the high officials and their families. The English carriage was engaged to convey Jeff Davis from the Exchange Hotel to the state capital at Montgomery, Feb. 18th, 1862, to deliver his inaugural address. The carriage and four bay horses and the negro slave who drove the team were all owned by the writer.

During the time that the Confederate government remained in Montgomery before it was removed to Richmond, which was May 20, 1862, the English carriage was used exclusively by the families of the president and other high Confederate officials. When the Confederate government removed to Richmond, I presented the English carriage and harness to Mrs. Davis. The English carriage was used by the Davis family and other of the cabinet officials during the time that the government was in Richmond, from May, 1862, until April, 1865.

The Carriage's Fate.
When Richmond was evacuated and all the Confederate officials evacuated from the Yankees, the English carriage was taken by the Davis family and shipped to Danville, Va., and from there to Charlotte, N. C., where Mrs. Davis and her family remained for some time. The carriage was used by them while they were in Charlotte. When Mrs. Davis left Charlotte to join Mr. Davis, the English carriage was left at Charlotte.

While I was in Charlotte in the spring of 1870, I saw a rattle trap of a carriage standing on the main street with a pair of mules hitched to it. I at once recognized it as my old English carriage. It was on tap as a public hack.

"Where did you get that carriage?" I asked the driver who was sitting on the box of the carriage.

"Well, boss, dis ere wagin' is de one dat Massa Jeff Davis rid in when he was boss of de southern federacy, sah. I traded a mule for de carriage wid a nigger about a year ago."

"How much for a ride in de carriage of state?" I asked.

"Well, boss, de regular price is four bits, in a common wagin, but dis ere is a high-toned wagin. I always git six bits for er ride."

I planted down de six "bits" and took a ride in de English carriage of state for old long sime.

When I purchased the carriage in Mobile, January, 1861, I removed the manufacturers' plate which was on it. The carriage was manufactured by the Yankee firm of Fountain & Co., in the Nutmeg state, New Haven, Conn.

Don't Wear A Truss

Brooks' Appliance is a new scientific discovery with automatic air pump that draws the broken parts together and binds them as you would a broken limb. It is absolutely painless and comfortable to every member of the body without chafing or hurting. I make it to you wear it—and it doesn't hurt you, you send it back to me and I will refund your money. The benefits or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way. I do business—always absolutely on the square and I have sold to thousands of people this way for the past five years. Remember, I am no sales, no hawker, no fad, no fake. I just give you a right business proposition.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, "Give Us Newbro's Herpicide."

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Hold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jamesville Gazette, April 16, 1868. The official majority in Rock county for Justice of the Supreme Court is, Dixon, 2,011; Palmer, 2,019. The poll books for the 4th Ward of this city were not returned, hence that vote of six is lost to the majority.

Impeachment Trial.—The Court of impeachment again refused, yesterday, to amend its rules, so as to allow all the managers and counsel to speak on the final argument, thus saving a week's time.

After long discussion a large mass of documentary evidence was introduced by the counsel for the President. It was announced that Mr. Stanbery had nearly recovered from his illness, and that he would appear in court today.

It is expected that an effort will be made, today, to put in the testimony of the cabinet officers to the effect that they all advised President Johnson to do exactly as he had done.

The Board of Managers consider that they have a stronger case than over, and Republicans at Washington are better satisfied with the situation than at any time this week.

New York, April 15.—While near Port Jervis on the Delaware division of the Erie road yesterday morning at three o'clock the four rear cars of the train were thrown off the track by a broken rail and rolled down an embankment one hundred feet high.

The embankment was formed of jagged rocks and in their descent the cars were broken to pieces. The sleeping car was entirely consumed by fire and seven persons were injured to death. Fifty-two persons are known to have been wounded and carried off. The wounded were immediately placed in the car left on the track and taken to Port Jervis. A rescue train was also sent out to the scene of the accident and help in the removal of the cars which were thrown over the cliff were three sleepers and a passenger car, while the engine and five cars passed over safely.

The number of the dead will probably reach fifty.

Tired Stomachs

What they need is rest. Don't force them by stimulants. Don't starve yourself by dieting. Simply let Kodol, for a little time, do the stomach's work. There is no other way. Please note our guarantee.

These are the results of indigestion: The undigested food grows hard, and irritates the stomach lining. It causes inflammation—perhaps ulceration. That is the source of the pain.

And that is why occasional indigestion often leads to chronic dyspepsia.

Undigested food ferments and forms gas. That distends the stomach, causing symptoms often called heart trouble.

Undigested food decays and breeds germs. The germs create poisons, and the food ducts of the bowels suck these poisons into the blood. That leads to blood impurity, and all its results. Often to kidney trouble.

Then food that fails to digest is wasted, and the body is robbed of its nourishment. In these ways scores of serious troubles are due solely to indigestion.

The remedy is to relieve the stomach. To let Kodol, for a little time, do its work for it.

Tonics and stimulants only spur the stomach to action. It is like whipping a tired horse.

The food must be digested, for you must have food. And you must stop the irritation. Kodol digests all food, immediately and completely. The result is relief and rest. You will be astonished to see how quickly the stomach recovers then.

Kodol is not like anything else. Most digestors depend almost solely on pepsin, and pepsin digests only albumen.

Starch requires something else; fat something else. A perfect digester must digest every food.

And such a digester requires the liquid form. So Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. For this reason its action is instant. Its effect even begins in the mouth, by starting the flow of saliva. Kodol digests all food completely. This fact is easily proved. And you can prove, just as easily, that other means fail to do that. They affect only part of the food.

Don't look for a cure for dyspepsia. There is none. Nature must do the curing.

Treat the weak stomach as you would a lame ankle. Nourish it and let it rest.

Not by dieting, for that means partial starvation. You need all the food elements, all the nourishment you can get. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and let Kodol digest it.

You won't need Kodol long, unless the trouble is chronic. For most weak stomachs recover very quickly with rest.

Our Guarantee

We ask you to prove, at our risk, that the facts are as we state them. Buy a large bottle of Kodol, and ask your druggist for the signed guarantee. If you are not satisfied, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money. There will be no quibble or question.

This offer applies to the large bottles only, and to but one in a family. That is sufficient to prove. Then please tell others how much Kodol does.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle.
